Time Takes Us All

Kalmah

In every revolution there's a man with a vision
He agitates and incites to follow his vocation
He speaks the golden words turns us against the system
Into the stand we rise him and make a low bowTime takes us all -makes me wonder that who'll need his call
Time takes us all -makes me wonder that who'll need his wordsWe all have to hail the man behind the pain
We all have to hail the man behind the painSoon he will take all the control becomes a mindless dictator
And we just can't believe he was the One
Under the protection of his faithful indoctination
He dominates and rules and distorts the truthTime takes us all -makes me wonder that who'll need his call
Time takes us all -makes me wonder that who'll need his words
We all have to hail the man behind the pain
We all have to hail the man behind the pain
We all have to hail the man behind the pain
