

Comfortably Confused

I See Stars

Sometimes the truth hurts more than lies
Found that life meant nothing today,
Forgot the very next morning
And why can't our bodies reset themselves,
Won't you please reset me,

I am comfortably confused,
and thats no thanks to you,
Turn off the stereo,
and put us in a different direction,

Found out that humanity lost its way
Not according to radio and TV,
But what has questioning ever gotten us,
Hold your tongue, better watch your mouth,
He is a man lurking,
But what has speaking out ever gotten us,

I am comfortably confused,
and thats no thanks to you,
Turn off the stereo,
and put us in a different direction,
What has worrying gotten us, I don't believe its safe,

Babe, I think that I'd like to leave,
This place gives me the creeps,
When I think about truth,
Cold sweat, your breath it chills,
Cheap thrills not above,
Or what they cracked up to be,
Just come with me, and we'll run away

Where the weathers warm and the skies are gold,
Just come with me and we'll run away,

I am comfortably confused,
and thats no thanks to you,
Turn off the stereo,
and put us in a different direction,
What has worrying gotten us,

I don't believe its safe.

Lyrics submitted by brenda.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>