Long Weekend

Cris Cab

(Yeah-eh, eh)(Alright)I was walking out the door on a friday, I couldn't make up my mind.
And just when I pulled out of the driveway, I saw you as you walk right by.You have the light blue eyes and the red hot sun, you smiled right back and the party begun, now we're blasting the gun and the blues having fun, and we ain't going nowhere!(Chorus)
When the night is almost over but everybody's jamming away, you know it's gonna be a long weekend.
'Cause your drink's not getting colder but we're still getting older and say, you know it's gonna be a long weekend.(Woohoohoo, a long weekend yeah)We watched the sun rise in the morning, shining bright in the (?).
Now you're swimming outside in the ocean, all day yeah you by my side.
You have the light blond hair and the red hot sun when you smiled right back yeah the party is fun now we're blasting the gun and the blues having fun, and we ain't going nowhere!(Chorus)
When the night is almost over but everybody's jamming away, you know it's gonna be a long weekend.
'Cause your drink's not getting colder but we're still getting older and say, you know it's gonna be a long weekend.If I ever make it, all the way back home.
I know you and I will never be alone.
We'll go dancing in the moon, all night, long.
Ain't nobody going, anywhere.(Slowly into the chorus)
When the night is almost over but everybody's jamming away, you know it's gonna be a long weekend.'Cause your drink's not getting colder but we're still getting older and say, you know it's gonna be a long weekend.(Woohoohoo, you know it's gonna be along weekend)You know it's gonna be along weekend.(Woohoohoo)You know it's gonna be along weekend.You know it's gonna be along weekend.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/