Kingdom

L'Ã‚me Immortelle

My summer's worn out
And my winter's just begun
My last snow has fallen
With the dawning of the sun

I see them staring at me
With their greedy eyes
I clench my fist and hatred rises
As I fall into demise

I want to take their lives for freedom
And consume their souls for peace
A total war to find my kingdom
My total war to find release

When bones are broken, blood is spilled
By a fist that's led with force
Will the minds change bitter plans
Or continue on their course

Can the pain that one might bring
Change a state of mind
Can the taking of a life
Bring light to the blind?
