You're Not Alone

Nick Lachey

Are you there? Are you gone?
Do you care? Is anybody home?
'Cause something's lost in your eyes
Are you blind? You're caught up in the lies, yeah
Who you gonna call when they're coming after you? Yeah
Where you gonna crawl when your fantasy is through?
Tell me, do you really know me? And do you really see me?
When you forget, you're fighting on your own and you're not alone
When your sky is falling and when your pain is calling
Don't forget that I will take you home, you're not alone
When you crash, when you burn
Are you scared? Will you ever learn?
'Cause there's a price that you pay
You'll realize tomorrow's another day, yeah
But who you gonna call when they're coming after you? Yeah
Where you gonna crawl when your fantasy is through?

And baby, do you really know me? And do you really see me?
When you forget, fighting on your own and you're not alone
And when your sky is falling, and when your pain is calling
Don't forget, I will take you home, you're not alone
And you're not fighting on your own
On the day the darkness comes
I'll find you, save you, baby
Tell me, do you really know me? And do you really see me?
You forget, you're not fighting on your own but you're not alone
And when your sky is falling, and when your pain is calling
Don't forget that I would take you home, you're not alone
And you're not fighting on your own that you're not alone
When your sky is falling and when your pain is calling
Don't forget that I will take you home
'Cause you're not alone
