Living Every Single Day

Jordyn Taylor

Another day stuck between us
Nobody said this would be easy
Another minute surrounds us
I know this pain but I don't feel a thing(Pre-)
'Cause I'm 3 weeks passed the point of being broken
6 months over trying to keep holding on()
So another night goes away
And another year fades to gray
And I'm still here
And I'm living every single day
So another song starts to play
Before the first one slips away
And I'm still here
And I'm living every single day
()
And every second this life time
Feels like a keep falling down
And every hour I'm just fighting
Won't let this sink, music's too loud(Pre-)
'Cause I'm 3 weeks passed the point of being broken
6 months over trying to keep holding on()
So another night goes away
And another year fades to gray
And I'm still here
And I'm living every single day
So another song starts to play
Before the first one slips away
And I'm still here
And I'm living every single day
So another night goes away
And another year fades to gray
And I'm still here
And I'm living every single day()
So another night goes away
And another year fades to gray
And I'm still here
And I'm living every single day
So another song starts to play
Before the first one slips away

And I'm still here
And I'm living every single day
