

Adrenaline

Matt Nathanson

I'd never fall in love with someone else again
If I could only taste your lips and this adrenaline
 I'd never leave here
 Never leave your bed
 I forgot how good this could feel
 Close my eyes, holding the steering wheel
 Spilling my confessions, midnight on the 405
 We really shouldn't be left alone
 The way we get into each other's bones
'Cause you've got your life now and I've got mine
 Take me home, I'm dying
I'd never fall in love with someone else again
If I could only taste your lips and this adrenaline
 I'd never leave here
 Never leave your bed
 I'd never leave here
 Never leave your bed
 You said you still remember the words
 To every single song that we heard
Driving California, sky looked like a swimming pool
 Ever since you pulled me apart
 In darkness in that garden in Echo Park
 Dreams come easy, I just disappear in you
 Let's stop all this talking
I'd never fall in love with someone else again
If I could only taste your lips and this adrenaline
 I'd never leave here
 Never leave your bed
 I'd never leave here
 Never leave your bed
 I can't stand it when you're not with me
 I can't stand it, I fall at your feet
You're not the answer, but I can't stand to be alone
 I'd never fall in love with someone else again
If I could only taste your lips and this adrenaline
 I'd never leave here
 Never leave your bed
 I'd never fall in love with someone else again
If I could only taste your lips and this adrenaline

I'd never leave here
Never leave your bed
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>