

Black Dahlia

Porcupine Tree

You have no interest in the past
Where you came from
Where you're going to There's a cliché in your eye
File the edges down
Soon be underground There's nothing here for you under the sun
There's nothing new to do, it's all been done
So put your faith in another place Never seem to get away from this
It's all fallen into an abyss
So put your foot on the pedal boy All you know is secondhand
Will it pass through
The cage inside you? You stole the only thing you love
So unfaithful
Drop is fatal
