OIKI

Light breaks the morning glaring headlights in the fog
To see how measurements and aerospace is moving up
    This sudden danger is my calling I can swear
    When I am ready I'll release
    So lost for words, this stranger heard
    That I'm gone forever, leapt before the fall
    In a million, in a million pieces I am breaking up
    To the future, to the future science is the circle taught
    And light breaks the morning flooding headlights in the fog

    With measurements and aerospace
    So lost for words, this stranger heard
    That I'm gone forever, leapt before the fall
    I'm leaping out too far, I've never been so sure
    Letting go off charts, falling close to stars
        In a million, in a million
        In a million, in a million
