

Into the Wind (Acoustic)

Circle II Circle

I float against the tide
Alone against this cold, cold feeling
    Never knowing why
    Refusing just to see
    What became of
    All these things inside
    I wish someone
Would somehow try and reach me
    I will never be the one to stay
    While we waste away
Throw my whole life into the wind
    Never thought of words to say
    Wouldn't matter anyway
In another world I seem to have been
    I look at where it's gone
    Never really seeing
    All the emptiness so long
    It's hollow now inside
    Swallowing the bitterness
    You left behind
The fears can finally now subside
    I will never be the one to stay
    While we waste away
    Threw my whole life into the wind
    Never thought of words to say
    Wouldn't matter anyway
In another world I seem to have been
    Time for waking up again
    To escape the sin
Don't know where I need to begin
    Who's the one to blame?
    You know you're all your afraid of What life's really all about
    I seek a space in time
    Where everything is really nothing
    Nothing to figure out
Nothing to think about
    I will never be the one to stay
    While we waste away
    Threw my whole life into the wind
    Never thought of words to say
    Wouldn't matter anyway
In another world I seem to have been
    Time for waking up again

To escape the sin
Don't know where I need to begin
I would never be the one to say
As I face the day
Threw my chances into
Into the wind

Songwriters
OLIVA, JOHN N./STEVENS, ZAKPublished by Lyrics © Warner/Chappell Music, Inc.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>