I'm Easy

Brendan Benson

I'm easy, just a couple of words that you've got to say
And it frees me from the godawful eyes when it sees me
And you said, "You're never gonna make it
Boy, you'll never make it alone" Ooh ahYou're crazy and the way that you're talking
No, you never cease to amaze me
You say lackadaisical, I say lazy
But somehow you're gonna make it, you're gonna, gonna go it aloneOh but, something's wrong
Something's wrong now, oh no
I slow down, I don't know why, oh noAnd then I grew up, I let it go for too long
Now let me explain, I never grew up
I think that I might have a shoe up
Don't make me call my crew up, we'll beat you upNow you're grinning, you're starting to gloat
You'd like me to note that you're winning
Let me remind you it's just the beginning
There's still more time left and I think that I just might take youOh but, something's wrong
Something's wrong now, oh no
I slow down, I don't know why, oh no, oh noAnd if it means that much to you (I'll take the steps and I'll follow through)
I know you have concerns about me
(I'm all locked up and I've lost the key)
You're the one I aim to please
(I'll set your mind at ease)Now I'm reeling
I'm climbing the walls
And I'm pacing the floor to the ceiling
I'm waiting for some special feelingAnd I'm still waiting
For this red light to change
To a bright aqua green, it's frustrating
I'm deliberately deliberatingWondering, are you receiving me?
Do you copy? Do you copy?
Do you copy? Do you copy?
Do you copy? Do you copy?
Do you copy? Do you copy?
(Yes, I do)
