

Leaving the Nest (2008)

Burn One Third

What a retarded society
When they faint on a empty speech
The new age messiah
His words are everything and nothing
What the hell is everyone insane
The idiot is thought as a saint
Repeat cliches
So typical and static Just close your eyes and fall asleep
Dream of green in shades of red Rebirth, of the communist through egocentric crisis
As if there never was Any fluctuation in this planets climate
God damn it they believe in anything
Anything to choke themselves an oddity
Excel in vanity
Misanthropic policy
I'd rather rip these in my talons This place is lost
All lost to the rise of lords
Aristocracy
Liberty has left the hearts and minds
In majority
So I leave the nest
If only once again, just as soon... To heights of absurdity
They persist to be indentured servants
Like a five year old child
Cling tight to the mothers hand
Why the halo crowned on government
Why forfeit your natural entitlement vote it loose
I reject that freedom isn't free
It's a natural state of being Great ambitions of other men are obstacles to freedom I feel alone is anyone left anyone at all I'd love to rip these in my talons This place is lost
All lost to the rise of lords
Aristocracy
Liberty has left the hearts and minds
In majority
So I leave the nest
If only once again, just as soon...

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>