Night

Jeff Hanson

Here's the line
Where I start
Somehow I will begin now.
I'm so behind, between eyes
This is not where it will end
Oh, once again.
There's a town where I go
Walking around in the morning
I will learn these streets how they turn
Though memories somehow deceive me
Careful now the bridge is out
The lines make their way through the ceiling
I'll return.If I could find any words at all
How I'd say them right
I wouldn't mind
If you took them for light
Cause all we have is night
All we have is nightI will take what I know
When I come around in the evening
All of our lies have most of my time
But I know that you still believe me
Careful now so full of doubt
Someday they'll give you a reason
How we'll learn, I will learnIf I could find anyway at all
Someday I know I might
I wouldn't mind
If you took them for light
Cause all we have is night
All we have is night
