Birthdays

Token Entry

Birthday

You let your problems swallow you whole then try to make me understand you let your troubles rule your life and I can't comprehend your past is gone and your future is shot your life is totally blown you make excuses for yourself and that's something I don't condone we both have the same birthday but you've aged so much more I knowthat I'll be making noise when I'm age ninety four you say that I should grow up and that life is more than fun but whenever problems challenged you it seems they always won your past is gone your future is shot your life is totally blown you condemn the youthful fun I have that you also used to own
we both have the same birthday but you've aged so much more your ready for retirement your not even twenty four

I'm not gonna retire cause I'm still young at heart time will tell in the future who has done their part and if you don't agree with me you can sti at home until your grave because at any age we'll be on this stage playing fast, smart, strong and brave

Lyrics Submitted by akira Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/