

Somebody's Yesterday

Leigh Nash

Texas is bigger than I remember
The road seems to end in the sky
This drive back home
Feels like forever
Hoping I'm still on your mind
Outside of Ausin in our old apartment
Are you still there all alone?
When I see you walking with your arms around here
Suddenly Texas is cold
There's no one else to blame
I chose to just walk away
Sometimes a lover discovers who matters too late
Now I gotta learn how to live as somebody's yesterday
Maybe I'll clal you, maybe you'll answer, maybe we'll talk about her
But that won't happen
I'm not gonna call you
We're never gonna be what we were
There's no one else to blame
I chose to just walk away
Sometimes a lover discovers who matters too late
Now I gotta learn how to live as somebody's yesterday
If yesterday was so bad, why'd we go back over and over again
If that's all you have you just stay there and pray someone new walks in
There's no one else to blame
I chose to just walk away
Sometimes a lover discovers who matters too late
Now I gotta learn how to live as somebody's yesterday
Texas is bigger than I remember

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>