Hard To Love (Ft. Refraze)

Arthur Walwin

Remember when we swore on the fact we would never end.
Well look at us now - you are miles away and I've been forgetting your name.
So many days have passed since I've seen your face.
And home is like a new place.
Well who'da thought I'd be the one to forget - to forget you?Stop, don't tell me you feel it - it's gone already.
You made it hard to love you. Baby, baby.
I tried harder than anyone ever should,
But you made it hard to love you. Baby, baby.When I cross your mind, are they your memories or mine?
'Cause every word I read is laced with regret.
'Cause you're so bitter and you'd love to drag me to the ground.
It's not a war it's that I just don't know you anymore.
And you flaunt your flaws.
What's done has been done - just forget and move on.Stop, don't tell me you feel it, it's gone already.
You made it hard to love you. Baby, baby.
I tried harder than anyone ever should,
But you made it hard to love you. Baby, baby.The love we work at so hard but lost was a rip-off 'cause it wasn't worth what it cost.
You think this was a joke the way you're just sitting there laughing it off.
Why are we always off and on and on and off?
You've got more sides to you than an octagon.
You thrived off my attention but came running back when the love was gone.
You're hot and cold but fell apart like the seasons.
Look at you now - not the person I used to be with; jealousy's the reason.
Two odd people don't always make even.
Invisible until you need something.
No guilt trips. I don't owe you nothing.
Don't even think about bringing us up.
I can't fall asleep - never mind fall in love.
There ain't no little guy with a bow and arrow.
If love's a strong word how about I fucking throw it at ya.
Too many ups and downs better get off the SeeSaw.
The only time U and I will be together's on a keyboard.Stop, don't tell me you feel it, it's gone already.
You made it hard to love you. Baby, baby.
I tried harder than anyone ever should,
But you made it hard to love you. Baby, baby.
