Here's Monday

Bonnie Tyler

Here's Monday and the day is just beginning
And the sun is in my eyes
And the overnight sensation of loving you so much
Has brought us to this morning of goodbyes
Here's Monday and the truth is just beginning
To dawn up on my mind
The comfort of your body, the touching of your lips
For ever more are leaving me behind
Goodbye my love, we came this far by being careful lovers
We came this far without once hurting others
Better leave you now before we change our minds
Goodbye my love, we came this far without once hurting others
Better leave you now before we change our minds
Here's Monday and the day is just beginning
And your face is in my eyes
Just an ordinary morning somewhere in this world
A little bit of heaven slowly dies
Goodbye my love, we came this far by being careful lovers
We came this far without once hurting others
Better leave you now before we change our minds
Goodbye my love, we came this far without once hurting others
Better leave you now before we change our minds
Here's Monday and the day is just beginning
And you face is in my eyes
Just an ordinary morning somewhere in this world
A little bit of heaven slowly dies

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/