Hey God

Tony Sly

A country torn to shreds by consolidated debt
As we watch another store close down
We cant live for four without paying the bank more
For the loans that they will not allow
Today I heard a mother crying I cannot live with this
So be strong, keep your head up fighting
Cause this is all there is
Hes sitting on a bench with his hands over his face
As his daughter moves closer to him
Six months without a job, now the benefits are gone
And the anti-depressants that help him live
Hey god Ive got a message for ya
I dont think you exist
Its not just the facts that are stacked against ya
That tell it like it is
If everything happens for a reason
Why are murderers still here?
Children, mothers, dying, broke
Can you make that disappear?
