Disneyland

Strung Out

i want something more from this misery called life there's all this pain and strife it's hard to keep my dreams alive i dream of a place where all of us can hide a world where my answers can never be denied and forget about this place
??? i want to move to disney land from the fucked up human race what better way to get away i want to go to a world ??? and i never want to i never want to leave ???no way to make believe ??? to disneyland
