

Beat Dependent

Last Tuesday

Daylight feels right, feels like everything's alright
Then it's gone again
This passion moves on, with reason
What are we gonna do to make it through
And now I know I need to carry on to find you here
This week will never end
To think I never wanted you, to think I never needed you
But on and on it's you
To think I never wanted you, to think I thought I never needed you Daylight feels right, feels like everything is... but does it...can it...through the night?
Short song, keep on, mission, we need to see this through What will we do?
I can't believe I thought I had enough, to hold me up
I can't depend on me (so close, but not enough, to hold me up)

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>