

One More Reason

Marshall Crenshaw

Late night listening to a sad song on the radio
And my mind runs back over dreams died long ago I'm reminded again that hearts cry (worlds die)
Love leaves with no goodbye
It's one more reason to cry So I take a walk outside
Down streets that suggest to me
Nothing more or less than a world full of misery Where did she stay last night
I've really got to know somehow
And another thing
Could that be where she is right now?
