

Many Sparrows

Dan Craig

Well you took my keys
And I let you go, go, go
Down in the street
And now you're scared to come home

And you thought I said
That you had let me down, down, down
But you're better off dead
Than to see me coming around

You're so much more
You're so much more loved
You're so much more loved
You're so much more than many sparrows, you
You're so much more loved
You're so much more loved
You're so much more than many sparrows
Oh my goodness, no

And you woke up
And you broke down, down, down
And you spoke up
Darling, that's not the language of this town, you know

Now you're sewn up
Your smile just like a scar
Tell me how come
You don't think that I know just where you are, you're so

You're so much more loved
You're so much more loved
You're so much more loved
You're so much more than many sparrows, you
You're so much more loved
You're so much more loved
You're so much more than many sparrows
Oh my goodness, no

'Cause I said I'd find you
And darling, I will

I said I'd be there
I am here still
I made it honest
Right from the start
I made it with love
In my heart, you're so

You're so much more loved
You're so much more loved
You're so much more loved
You're so much more than many sparrows, you
You're so much more loved
You're so much more than many sparrows
