The Word Made Flesh

Straight Line Stitch

Intensify the pain as I speak these words
So personal to me do I make things ten times worse?
Throwing all sense of caution to the wind
The next tragedy will begin where this one ends
With everything thats happening I allow
If I held this all inside I'd be dead by now
Reality dawns and ends the world of make believe
Reality dawns and ends the world of make believe
Suffering silently is done I know my day will come
I die every time I say these words that kill something in you
The word made flesh, the word is flesh
The word made flesh, the word is flesh
The word made flesh, the word is flesh
The word made flesh, the word is flesh
With everything thats happening I allow
I let this out and it all affects you somehow
Reality dawns and ends the world of make believe
Reality dawns and ends the world of make believe
I've only said what I felt to play the hand that I was dealt
So I'm unsteady but my cards are right here on the table
Suffering silently is done
I know my day will come
Breaking my bones this friction
Its burning like a sick addiction
I refuse to place the blame, but who ever you are Go back from where you came

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/