

A.D.D. Life

The So So Glos

Here we go again I don't know where to begin I'm out the door of the scene and I gotta go back in I need a life that I can plug in a wall A one direction unisex and one size fits all My mind goes to work like it's stuck in reverse Derailed my train of thought car crash in a hearse Just the other day I had a feeling like this I had to search the deep web to see if I still exist
And it's true. I live the A.D.D. life with you
You got the A.D.D. too
too much is never enough
And I knew for sure that it wouldn't come easy but nobody told me it'd be so tough
It is a million things to do that never get done A thousand sheets of blank paper glued to my tongue a hundred screens that pass through my periphery a day i'm a too much information generation cliché tomorrow's just a yesterday's to do list away another distractions just waiting to happen assalamualaikum, I'll see you when I'm dead And it's true. I live the A.D.D. life with you. you got the A.D.D. too
too much is never enough
And I knew for sure that it wouldn't come easy but nobody told me it'd be so fucked I'm out the store with a receipt and I gotta go back in I'm out the store with a receipt and I gotta go back in i'm out the store & I gotta go in and tell em' my cerebellums malfunctioning Tell em' that I can't find my melon again In a sea of information and its swimming away we've got the ill communication but nothing to say
and it's true I live the A.D.D. life with you
you got the A.D.D. too
storage space skull too full of stuff and I knew for sure that it wouldn't come easy but nobody told me it'd be so true i live the A.D.D. life with you. you got the A.D.D. too
too much is never enough
and I knew for sure that it wouldn't come easy but nobody told me it'd be so.
