

I Have Been Waiting

Anubis Spire

I Have Been Waiting

Somewhere there's justice
Where all true believers
Are brought back to sanity
By the victims they've made

All they ever taught me
In all my school day misery
Was all I could ever be
Was another rich man's slave

So I had to walk away.

Chorus:

I might be convicted
But I would not be unforgiven
If I gave all this pain
Straight back to them
But I have been waiting
Just for the light
To turn away from this madness
Somewhere where I can breath.

In the dark of my room
I can hear them whisper
Lay here as the wonder
Just what's wrong with me
No matter how I try
No one listens, no one hears
Can't seem to ever fit
Be what they wanted me to be

So I had to tear the veil away

Repeat chorus:

Somewhere there's justice
Where all true believers
Are brought back to sanity
By the victims they've made

All they ever taught me
In all my school day misery
Was all I could ever be
Was another rich man's slave

So I had to walk away.

Chorus:

I might be convicted
But I would not be unforgiven
If I gave all this pain
Straight back to them
But I have been waiting
Just for the light
To turn away from this madness
Somewhere where I can breath.
