Allies

Marcel Dettmann

Allies, fire in the sky
Splinters in the eye, don't know any better.
Keep your, arsenal at bay,
Live another day, pull yourself together.
Every, war you want to win,
There's nothing to defend, nothing to surrender.
I don't, want to fight alone,
No one does.

Hey, look high, and we look low
We never find our enemy
We never find our enemy.
Somehow, this war is out if control,
We never find our enemy
We're gunning down whatever breathes.

Nice try, cross enemy lines,
Look out for the mines, buried in the mirror.
Fall out, target on the move,
Coming into view, coming in clearer.
By now, no one else around,
Narrowing it down, guess I got to figure.
One war, is all I can afford,
No more.

Hey, look high, and we look low
We never find our enemy
We never find our enemy.
Somehow, this war is out if control,
We never find our enemy
We're gunning down whatever breathes.

Here we go
Wasting lives one way or another
Here we go
Vacant eyes rearranging their color

Hey, look high, and we look low
We never find our enemy
We never find our enemy.

Somehow, this war is out if control,
We never find our enemy
We're gunning down whatever breathes.

Here we go
Wasting lives one way or another
Here we go
Vacant eyes rearranging their color

Wasting lives one way or another
