

Perchance to Dream

Erasure

Perchance to dream
Dive into the wall of sound, yeah
Crashing all over me
Turning my world upside-down, yeah And then I see, and I start to breathe
As if for the first time
Suddenly, as calm as can be
Sky full of wonder, tears asunder Climb through the car, falling up to meet the road
Something in my head will explode
Oh baby gee, won't you come and share the world with me
Time with me Tears on a tin box
I tear out tinder to strike it with, yeah
A little spark is satisfied
Lights up the soft wood, ooh And then I see, and I start to breathe
The mountain in moonshine
Stars on my breath, scares me the best
Flickering mellow shadows Climb through the air, falling up to brush the clouds
Static in my hair I blush out loud
Oh baby gee, won't you come and share the world with me
Time with me And then I see, and I start to breathe
As if for the first time
Suddenly, as calm as can be
Sky full of wonder, tears me under Climb through the car, falling up to meet the road
Something in my head will explode
Oh baby gee, won't you come and share the world with me
Some time with me
Oh baby gee, won't you come and share the world with me
Time with me
