

The Radio Was Playing Johnny Come Lately

Colin Blunstone

She was always on the run
She said she didn't need someone
But you know somehow you know
And I was only half awake
Waiting for the clouds to break
But you know, somehow you know Suddenly we had to be together
Suddenly the world could fade away
The radio was playing 'Johnny Come Lately'
She said hello and I was helpless and everyone knew
The radio was playing 'Johnny Come Lately'
How did they know, how do they know? Rolling under open skies
I wonder why I close my eyes
Little girl, shut out the world
And every little sign tonight
Every little kick inside
Couldn't tell her anyway
What would she say? Somebody said there's no forever
Everybody knew she'd walk away and I remember the day
The radio was playing 'Johnny Come Lately'
She said hello and I was helpless and everyone knew
The radio was playing 'Johnny Come Lately'
How did they know? How do they know

Songwriters

DORE, CHARLIE/PICKETT, PHIL/BRITTEN, TERRY Published by Lyrics © Warner/Chappell Music, Inc., BMG RIGHTS MANAGEMENT US, LLC

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>