

Where Are You

Don Williams

Where is the sun where is the day I'm looking for Where is the moon where are the stars that'd shine before
Where are you where are you Where is the time when hours were like minutes here before
Where are the nights when it was warm even on the floor
Where are you where are you Where are the eyes that looked at me with love and nothing more
Where are the arms that made me feel so welcome at the door
Where are you where are you
