Language Lessons (Five Words Or Less)

Hawthorne Heights

I hope this song can tell you how I feel tonight
You are my first dissection spilling my insides
Let's write our names with the blood that's in our cheeks
So it won't wash away if I don't come home for weeks
And I don't come homeI never said, this would be easy
I let her go when she said she was leaving
So whisper softly and don't forget
To tell me how you feel in five words or lessI knew I should have never offered you the world
The nights are full of faces you're the only girl
Turn my world from disaster, make my heart start beating faster
Ask the question, here's the answer
I need you now and I can't stand thisI never said, this would be easy
I let her go when she said she was leaving
So whisper softly and don't forget
To tell me how you feel in five words or lessJust tell me how you feel, I need your voice tonight
Just tell me how you feel, whoa, whoa
So whisper softly and don't forget
To tell me how you feel in five words or lessI never said, this would be easy
I let her go when she said she was leaving
So whisper softly and don't forget
To tell me how you feel in five words or less
