Descendents

(Lyrics and Music by B. Stevenson)

I see tha anger in the back of your eyes

I know the vengeance running through your mind

You're up on the cross with a heart full of nails

Hanging your head whenever you fail

* You're thinking. Now's the time

You keep saying. Now's the time

But you still keep standing still

You're free now. Now's the time

It's over now. Now's the time

And I believe. Now's the time

And there ain't a thing now that you can do

You expect everyone to have pity on you

Nobody else can put their life in your hands

So get up and move while you still have the chance

 With all of your mind, and all of your soul

And all of your heart, if you want to be smart

You've got a lot to give, don't throw it away

You'll have your way some day, it will come to you

*

Let's see what you do with the rest of your days

You had it all and you gave some away

It's not going to matter when you're dead and gone

You'll be rewarded for the good that you've done

 So quit thinking. Now's the time.

And start doing. Now's the time

You've got a lot to live for

So quit crying. Now's the time

And start trying. Now's the time

Now's the time. Now's the time to live

You say you've been run through the lover's mill

But people are starving while you get your fill

There's not time for standing still

There's another void that you can fulfill

That you can fulfill

**
