Wonderland

Ten

It's not always what we planned
Sometimes our broken dreams are far away lands
Never knowing where we stand
We're holding on to something
Burning our handsDidn't we run before we walked Nothing designed to break our fall
So don't you understand, time is an ocean
And every life a grain of sandDaybreak crossed a morning sky
Too late for the tears you cried
It's not always in your hands
For time alone can understand it all
In wonderlandIt burns like fire, shines like gold
It pays to listen to your heart and your soul
For we are stronger than we know
So if you find true love then never let goWe're not a liberty to force
The evolutionary course
So don't you understand love is the potion
But there are those who taste it allDaybreak crossed a morning sky
Too late for the tears you cried
It's not always in your hands
For time alone can understand it all
In wonderland
Someday this will all subside
You wake, then you'll realize
It's not always in your hands
For time alone can understand it all
In wonderlandDon't you understand I'll be your shoulder
And I will answer when you callDaybreak crossed a morning sky...

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/