Always

Tor Miller

Maybe i hate being alone and holding you through the cellphone and runin' hard from them miles if i could break all the fast clocks wouldn't make all the noise stop could for a whileI'm probably gonna let you down oh, oh ohlying away to get the fever call me a causer or believer i will be loving you always, always, always i bitter louder than thunder if you have ever wonder
i will be loving you always, always, always I'm looking for lights on the runway can you forget my mistakes and wade the blood from my hands take me from the city of angels all the stars and the famous show me somewhere to landI never wanna let you down
I don't want to ever lose you i will love you always, always, always
i will love you always, always, always
i will be loving you always, always, alwaysi don't want to ever lose you i will love you always, always, alwaysdon't know how we got to this place but i'll be loving you always and i always will
