Every Lie

My Darkest Days

So where did you sleep the night before? I doubt that your phone was dying I'm supposed to believe that is what you wore Said you were alone, I don't buy it Now I can't staySurrounded by every lie that won't come true Now you wanna take the time but why would you Think you're gonna make it right but how could you So I can't stay, surrounded by every lieYou might as well just stop crying It doesn't mean much to me anymore A little too late to start trying I'm taking this love off of life support Now I can't staySurrounded by every lie that won't come true Now you wanna take the time but why would you Think you're gonna make it right but how could you So I can't stay, surrounded by every lieEvery lie that won't come true Now you wanna take the time but why would you Think you're gonna make it right but how could you So I can't stay, surrounded by every lieTrying to undo the love that I'm tied to Who haven't you lied to With every lie that won't come true Now you wanna take the time but why would you Think you're gonna make it right but how could you So I can't stay, surrounded by every lieEvery lie that won't come true Now you wanna take the time but why would you Think you're gonna make it right but how could you So I can't stay, surrounded by No, I won't stay, surrounded by every lie
