

Somebody Else's Song

Lifehouse

Can't change this feeling
I'm way out of touch
And can't change this meaning
Well, it means too much
I never been this lonely
I never felt so good
I can't be the only one
Misunderstood
As I remind myself of somebody else
I'm feeling like I'm chasing
Like I'm facing myself alone
I've got somebody else's thoughts
In my head, I want some of my own
I want some of my own, I want some of my own
Can you see me up here?
Would you bring me back down?
'Cause I've been living to see my fears
As they fall to the ground
As I remind myself of somebody else
I'm feeling like I'm chasing
Like I'm facing myself alone
I've got somebody else's thoughts
In my head, I want some of my own
I want some of my own, I want some of my own
Well, am I hiding behind my doubts?
Are they hiding behind me
And closer to finding out?
It doesn't mean anything
Oh, I remind myself of somebody else now
I'm feeling like I'm chasing
Like I'm facing myself alone
I've got somebody else's thoughts
In my head, I want some of my own
I want some of my own, I want some of my own

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>