One Jungle

The Fixx

The sailor walks across the ocean Unsafe on waves of glass Any time dark skies could open He could perish at the mastHis stomach turns, the potion burns He's lifting every stoneMoney comes, and money goes Man must always have a home Money comes, and money goes Man could never be aloneHunter in his leafy temple Monkeys sing the lions ride Jungle tempting with example His gun always by his sidePotion burns, his stomach turns He's lifting every stoneMoney comes, and money goes Man must always have a home Money comes, and money goes Man could never be aloneAstronaut on a traveled plan Searching for his other man The plastic pawn is in his hand And in the other, a looking glassHis stomach turns, the potion burns He's lifting every stoneMoney comes, and money goes Man must always have a home Money comes, and money goes Man could never be aloneMoney comes, money goes
