Too Much, Too Often

Phantom Planet

It's showing in your face, you're out night after night
Came with a hungry heart, losing my appetite
Hours just keep passing by, I'll start wondering
About the hole that you became and I keep falling in
So now without stopping, it's too much too often
Out of the cradle and into the coffin
You're gonna get down and out on the double
If it starts with attraction it ends up in trouble
It looks like theater seats around an open bar
I see the client
