

What Am I Supposed To Believe

Christopher Cross

Some like it hot, some like it cold
I like it best when it's untold
When I feel sad and when I feel down
Then I'll wish you were around
What am I supposed to believe
Is it that you really love me
Turn down the lights now, it's all been said
The troubles that come and go
You took my heart and threw it away
You left me out in the rain
What am I supposed to believe
Is it that you really love me
Just you wait, you wait and see
I will be there to love you
Oh, it's hard
So hard to live a life on your own
After you've known how it could be
With you and me
Won't you come home to me
You could make everything all right
You could warm me through the coldest night
And make it all right, all right
What am I supposed to believe
Is it that you really love me
Just you wait, you wait and see
I will be there to love you
What am I supposed to believe
Is it that you really love me
Just you wait, you wait and see
I will be there to love you
What am I supposed to believe
Is it that you really love me
Just you wait, you wait and see
I will be there to love you
