City Lights

Elisa

Just like Queens, the leaves move gently as their shadows obey with natural synchronism
Would they mind me? If they knew that I'm here watching and I am wishing I could dance like themÃ¢?Â¦ohÃ¢?Â¦oh

And now they surrender to the strong light
Changing their colors with the heat
I certainly don't know where I am but I know where I wanna be

And they are sayingÃ¢?Â¦everything follows everything
I guess I'm trying to believe
Everything follows and I am trying, and someone's singing to me now

Close to me, no matter how much time we can spend apart we're still together like we're one
And just like leaves, we will take our chance to fly and we'll learn not to fear the ground by falling down
Another day to fill up somewhere floating on the line of time
I blow a little wish in my hand, sending it back to the sky

And they're saying everything follows everything
I guess I'm trying to believe
Everything follows
I'm trying and someone's singing to me now

That I will be with you again
Oh I will be with you again

As they say everything follows everything
I guess I'm trying to believe that Everything follows and I'm trying, and someone is singing to me now..
That I will be with you again
Oh I will be with you again

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by TOFFOLI, ELISA
Lyrics Â© Peermusic Publishing, EMI Music Publishing

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/