

Deep End

Palm Trees & Power Lines

Get home late and seeing this mess
After he leaves, I think I need to address
A heart's not something to be messed with
I think that yours needs to be tested
Now look in my eyes darling, this is no joke to me
If you wanna go and ruin it all, then let's just let Bygones beMy mind keeps on losing track of how many times I've come back to the same problematic situation
I'm starting to lose all my patience
For your silly games
I'm not something to simply rearrange or a tinker toy
On your shelf of boys so leave me alone and be ashamedWhat now, now that I've said it
It took a little while but I have no regret
In doing the right thing
I'm not the one who's been spending time with just anyone you can get your hands on, whoa
I don't think I want you back
I'm not being funny honey, this time I'm serious
And you're just delirious if you think I'm the one that caused this
Now look in my eyes darling, this is no joke to me
If you wanna go and ruin it all, then let's just let
Bygones beMy mind keeps on losing track of how many times I've come back to the same problematic situation
I'm starting to lose all my patience
For your silly games
I'm not something to simply rearrange or a tinker toy
On your shelf of boys so leave me alone and be ashamedI think you've gone off the deep end, but that's ok
We can just be friends, we said "through thick and thin"
I didn't know you were lying, I thought you were trying Well so much for believing in youMy mind keeps on losing track of how many times I've come back to the same problematic situation
I'm starting to lose all my patience
For your silly games
I'm not something to simply rearrange or a tinker toy
On your shelf of boys so leave me alone and be ashamed

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>