Into the wind, I got lost, into the fire I left my spirit
Into the wind, I am lost, I am always in between I surrender my spirit, be part of the evolution
Nature has a way to make order disappear
I connect my spirit to the infinite consciousness that lies beyond us
I surrender my spirit, to the overlapping chaos
I am energy flowing, atoms spinning
I am so much more
Than my five senses Nowadays
All I do is look at myself from a distance
The image is blurry. I live in the past
I vaguely recall the ideas that shaped me
The questions that pushed me oh so far
The wolf in me, is still hungry
The wolf in me, is still hungry
For me being enslaved by poverty, brother
Nothing is more able to kill than routine
Will someone please break the bubble? Into the wind, I got lost, into the fire I left my spirit
Into the wind, I am lost, I am always in between
