Through Different Eyes

Fates Warning

We're walking within a shadow
Where echoes of different times resound
Looking for memories to relive
In yesterdays that can't be foundThrough different eyes we keep looking for what we lack Changing minds take us away, and you can't go backAnd staring into ageless eyes
That shared secrets too dark for light
We're searching for old bonds in places
That lie forever out of sightThrough different eyes we keep looking for what we lack Changing minds take us away and you can't go back
To different times or ageless eyes, free from sorrow
Changing hearts will hide the past from tomorrowThrough different eyes we try to find People and places we've left behindThrough different eyes we keep looking for what we lack
Changing minds take us away, and you can't go back
To different times or ageless eyes, free from sorrow
Changing hearts will hide the past from tomorrowThrough different eyes we keep looking for what we lack
Changing minds take us away, and you can't go back
Through different eyes we keep looking for what we lack

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/