

Passing Time (feat. Logan Henderson)

Heffron Drive

You took my heart-shaped hourglass
And turned it over, over.
The further that Iâ€™m falling back,
You bring me closer, closer.

Cause I lost my way inside the truth,
Watching moments slipping through
My hands kept getting emptier each day.

You lit the match, shook me awake.
The fire grew, you fanned the flames.
It burned until the walls let in the light,

Cause weâ€™re all passing time,
Looking for the rush that makes us feel alive.
Living through the moments, trapped inside a lie.
I need you here tonight.
Show me thereâ€™s more to life
And weâ€™re not passing time.

You took the armor on my chest
And tore it open, open.
You saw my heart inside the mess,
Said itâ€™s not broken, broken.

Cause I lost my way inside the truth,
Watching moments slipping through my hands
Kept getting emptier each day.

You lit the match, shook me awake.
The fire grew, you fanned the flames.
It burned until the walls let in the light.

Cause weâ€™re all passing time,
Looking for the rush that makes us feel alive,
Living through the moments, trapped inside a lie.
I need you here tonight.
Show me thereâ€™s more to life.
And weâ€™re not passing time.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>