Undertow

Lions Lions

The undertow, has made you so unforgiving.
And yet you never saw it coming from miles away.
The undertow, has left you cold.
The tide that pulls you down will never lift you up.

All your intentions swept away.
At the sight of your reflection.
I've seen the current push progress away.
Yet the feeling remains.

So close, the edge and the sand is beneath your feet and making it's way for the steps that you're taking.
Towards the ending that you always wanted.
But the feeling remains.

Is the current strong enough, to carry the weight of the world on your shoulders?

It's on your shoulders...

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/