

And That Was Yesterday

Jules Shear

Finally at the point where lies would cure everything too easy Oh and honesty would cure not at thing at all On the World Trade Center towers where the air's a little breezy there the end would come You didn't need to jump or fall Left a mean streak as wide as the road you're on tonight

Kiss it on the head
and that was yesterday
Hold it by a thread
and that was yesterday
The distance that you kept
around you yesterday
finally is all yours
it finally is all yours

You want to pick up at a place where you never did leave off Where you could bless yourself and know enough to turn around As long as you'll be thinking You'll be thinking Why'd it have to stop?
You see yourself recite the reasons but you don't hear a sound Make a peace with your past Where do you think you're going so fast?

Kiss it on the head
and that was yesterday
Hold it by a thread

and that was yesterday
The distance that you kept
around you yesterday
finally is all yours
it finally is all yours

Find the hotel
Find the lake
but it means nothing Till your memory calls
Find the bed
The sheets
The plates
They all means nothing

Kiss it on the head
and that was yesterday
Hold it by a thread
and that was yesterday
The distance that you kept
around you yesterday
finally is all yours
it finally is all yours

Lyrics Submitted by Richard Gagnon

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>