

This Sudden Injury

City and Colour

Stay the night, and I promise I won't die
Without you there and I can't and I can't close my eyes
But I can't leave myself tonight
And I was still lost inside And now waiting for everything
To fall into place
Waiting for everything
To fall Most nights I cry myself awake
And she waits, my love, my love falls away
Well I sit alone, again today
Wonder why everything went this way And now waiting for everything
To fall into place
Waiting for everything
To fall into place
Waiting for everything
To fall
And I cry myself awake
And I cry myself awake
