

In God We Trust

GalleryCat

Put your hands high itâ€™s a stick up for your dreams in the land of America aint nothing what it seems Say we founded on religion but expanded on the greed I guess the only thing we worship is the only thing we need

keep your hands high bow to your king itâ€™s the almighty dollar and you prayin for the rain

Like open up the heavens cause we need more stuff just to buy more stuff because weâ€™ll never have enough

And everythingâ€™s for sale from forgiveness to love, a better education and a future for your son

There is no limitation on desire of the heart we will lie kill and steal even start an other war

In the name of religion hiding behind the free we pray to the god that put the chains on your feet

And your faith only increases with the interest on your debt so you work a little harder as a way to repent and then you justâ€™

we dreaming for a better day the day we get to see your face my god

Strapped beneath the rubber band you put this song in my heart and I sing your praise

So i close my eyes and we say a little prayer to the Franklin in the sky saying how I need you near Iâ€™ve taken you for granted used your name in vain and right now I need your touch to come and take away the pain

The bank is the church the teller is the deacon and I take a lot of notes when the loan officer is preaching

Giving more than ten percent when i sign the dotted line itâ€™s the joy that you feel when you recommit your life

Living just to work working just to live day after day giving everything I get yet I cant seem to shake all the thoughts in my head

Like god are you here staring at my daily bread holding god in the palm of my hand are you dead

But I know that heâ€™s is alive I can feel it in my wallet I see him all around like I was called to be a prophet profit off of misery profit off of pain profit off the hopes of an other mans dream

we dreaming for a better day the day we get to see your face my god

Strapped beneath the rubber band you put this song in my heart and I sing your praise

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>