Enough For Always

Kate Voegele

You dry my eyes with your long sleeve
Your sweatshirt's way too big on me, but it's perfect
You hate my taste in DVDs
When I let you drive the red GT I get nervous
But laying in your arms is like the first snow
Delicate yet takes my breath away, oh
Say you're forever and
Say that your heart's gonna stay, yeah
Well, you're stubborn and I'm worse you know
Your smile is like that country road in Virginia
You know you never let me win
In Nintendo and that's bullshit in my opinion, yeah
But you can spin my bad days into pure gold
With just a touch of your hand on my waist, hey
Say you're forever and
Say that your heart's gonna stay, yeah
'Cause you, you're who I love
And ooh, this is enough for always
You asked to dance and I got shy
You said, "Honey, there's no time for excuses"
Barefoot on Hermosa Beach
Oh, we just let that ocean breeze be the music, yeah
'Cause you're the only thing worth coming home to
And it's how I wanna end all of my days
Say you're forever and
Say that your heart's gonna stay, yeah
You, you're who I love
And ooh, this is enough for always
You're the reason
This singing heart is beating
Love, it's easy now
Summer evenings
Oh, keep me like a secret
I won't let you down
You, you're who I love
(You're the reason)
(This singing heart is beating)
(Love, it's easy now)
And ooh, this is enough for always

(Summer evenings)
(Oh, keep me like a secret)
(I won't let you down)
