

Growing Up Is Getting Old

Jason Michael Carroll

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Well its been awhile since i did something i could get arrested for all the girls i ran around with dont run around no more those days of racing cars and closing down bars are winding down i feel like the only cowboy left here in this towncuz i raised enough hell for my next fifty years, dodgin work, chasin skirts and shotgun'n beers i need to act my age so i've been told, but man this growing up is getting oldYea my buddy and I use to raise em high and stay out til four but his new wife wont let me crash on the couch no more even he said man aint it time to tone it down, now thats the last thing i thought i'd ever hear come from his mouthcuz we raised enough hell for our next fifty years, dodgin work, chasin skirts and shotgun'n beers i need to act my age so i've been told, but man this growing up is getting oldlike a wild horse with such a tame i got a wild streak thats hard to breakcuz i've raised enough hell for my next fifty years, dodgin work, chasin skirts and shotgun'n beers i need to act my age so i've been told, but man this growing up is getting oldyea this growing up is getting old yea its gettin old
