

The Hardest Part of Love

Stephanie J. Block

You're touching me so sweetly I almost turn away
Shower me with kindness, wanting me to stay
I try to soak it up, forget where I have been
But sometimes the hardest part of love is letting it in
The hardest part of love is letting it in The kisses are devoted, you've only longed for me
No dark side to win over, no bruited mystery
My mind tries to let go but my heart fights to win
But sometimes the hardest part of love is letting it in
The hardest part of love is letting it in Don't wanna be in love no more but I'm tempted by the dark
Sometimes I wanna run away, sometimes I wanna stay
Oh, I've got to stay Contemptibly you're sleeping, I'm hopelessly awake
I know all about giving but don't know how to take
I'm old enough to change, to shed my damaged skin
But sometimes the hardest part of love is letting it in
The hardest part of love is letting it in
